WE ARE LOOKING FORWARD TO SEEING YOU!

Erica, a Sealy native, lives in Sealy with her husband, Jon, and their two children: 12-year-old Harloe and 7-year-old Slade. She earned her BA in Interdisciplinary Studies from Texas A&M University and her M.Ed. in Educational Leadership & Policy Studies from the University of Texas-Arlington.

With nearly twenty years in education, Erica has served as a classroom teacher, reading and dyslexia interventionist, and K-12 instructional specialist. She is passionate about creating a positive and engaging environment where students and teachers can thrive. Erica believes in nurturing the whole child, including their spiritual well-being, to help them reach their full potential.

Outside of school, Erica enjoys traveling, decorating interior spaces, and spending quality time with her family. You'll often find her cheering on Harloe and Slade at their sporting events or supporting Jon as he coaches Knights Basketball.

Erica Waldrop Accommodations Coordinator

I graduated from Texas A&M University with a BS in Interdisciplinary Studies (Education) and received my M.Ed. in Curriculum and Instruction from Sam Houston State University. I am certified EC-6 Generalist, 4-8 Math/Science and ESL Supplemental EC-8. I attend Kingsland Baptist Church in Katy, TX with my family. My husband and I have twin 5 year old boys. Together, we like to go on hikes, fish, and spend time outdoors in nature.

Katie Wimberly Elem. Teacher 3-5

Karen Peach Kindergarten Teacher

Hello! My name is Mrs. Peach. This year begins my 26th year as a teacher. I have a B.A. in English with a minor in History plus 4 Texas teacher certifications including English 6-12, History 6-12, Generalist EC-6, and ESL. I am married and have 2 daughters, 3 step-sons, 2 dogs, and 1 cat. As a family we enjoy camping, hiking, and hunting. In my free time I like to run, read, and attend church at CCF.

I graduated from the University of Houston where I earned a Bachelor of Science in education with a minor in reading. I just retired after 30 years of teaching in Spring Branch ISD which is in Houston, and my family and I recently moved to Bellville. I have 3 grown children with 2 in college. We have 3 dogs who are loving the massive yard here. Some things I like to do are listen and read the Bible daily as well as do a lot of walking. My goal is to start a garden and learn more about how to grow vegetables. In Houston my church is the United Methodist, but we are currently looking for a local church. I look forward to working here at Faith Academy and growing in my relationship with God, the staff and the students.

A Faith Academy
Parent Partnership Presentation

When we talk about The Life we are talking about a Person—Jesus Christ, God Himself—offering to exchange who we are apart from Him for a new identity as His sons and daughters, infused with His life, made partakers of His nature, tracing our heritage to Him, and blessed with His indwelling presence. The Apostle Paul reminds us that spiritual truth is not an intellectual acquisition, but rather something that must be apprehended by the power of the Holy Spirit.

CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

Enjoy this Labor Day message from the late Chuck Colson brought to us by Breakpoint.

Fashion magazines are aghast over the latest fashion craze: work clothes. Carhartt hunting jackets are the rage on the streets of London and New York. Blundstone boots, until recently worn only by sheep farmers and miners, are now counted as hip footwear.

The workwear craze actually has a long tradition in America. Back in 1946, a magazine called The American Weekly celebrated Labor Day with a cover photo of a worker standing astride the world in overalls and boots. That's actually not a bad image to take with us from Labor Day—a tribute to the fundamental dignity of the worker.

Christians have a special reason to celebrate Labor Day. We worship a God who labored to make the world—and who created human beings in His image to be workers. When God made Adam and Eve, He gave them work to do: cultivating and caring for the earth. In the ancient world, the Greeks and Romans looked upon manual work as a curse, something for lower classes and slaves. But Christianity changed all that. Christians viewed work as a high calling—a calling to be co-workers with God in unfolding the rich potential of His creation.

This high view of work can be traced throughout the history of the church. In the middle ages, the guild movement grew out of the church. They set standards for good workmanship and encouraged members to take satisfaction in the results of their labor. The guilds became the forerunners of the modern labor movement.

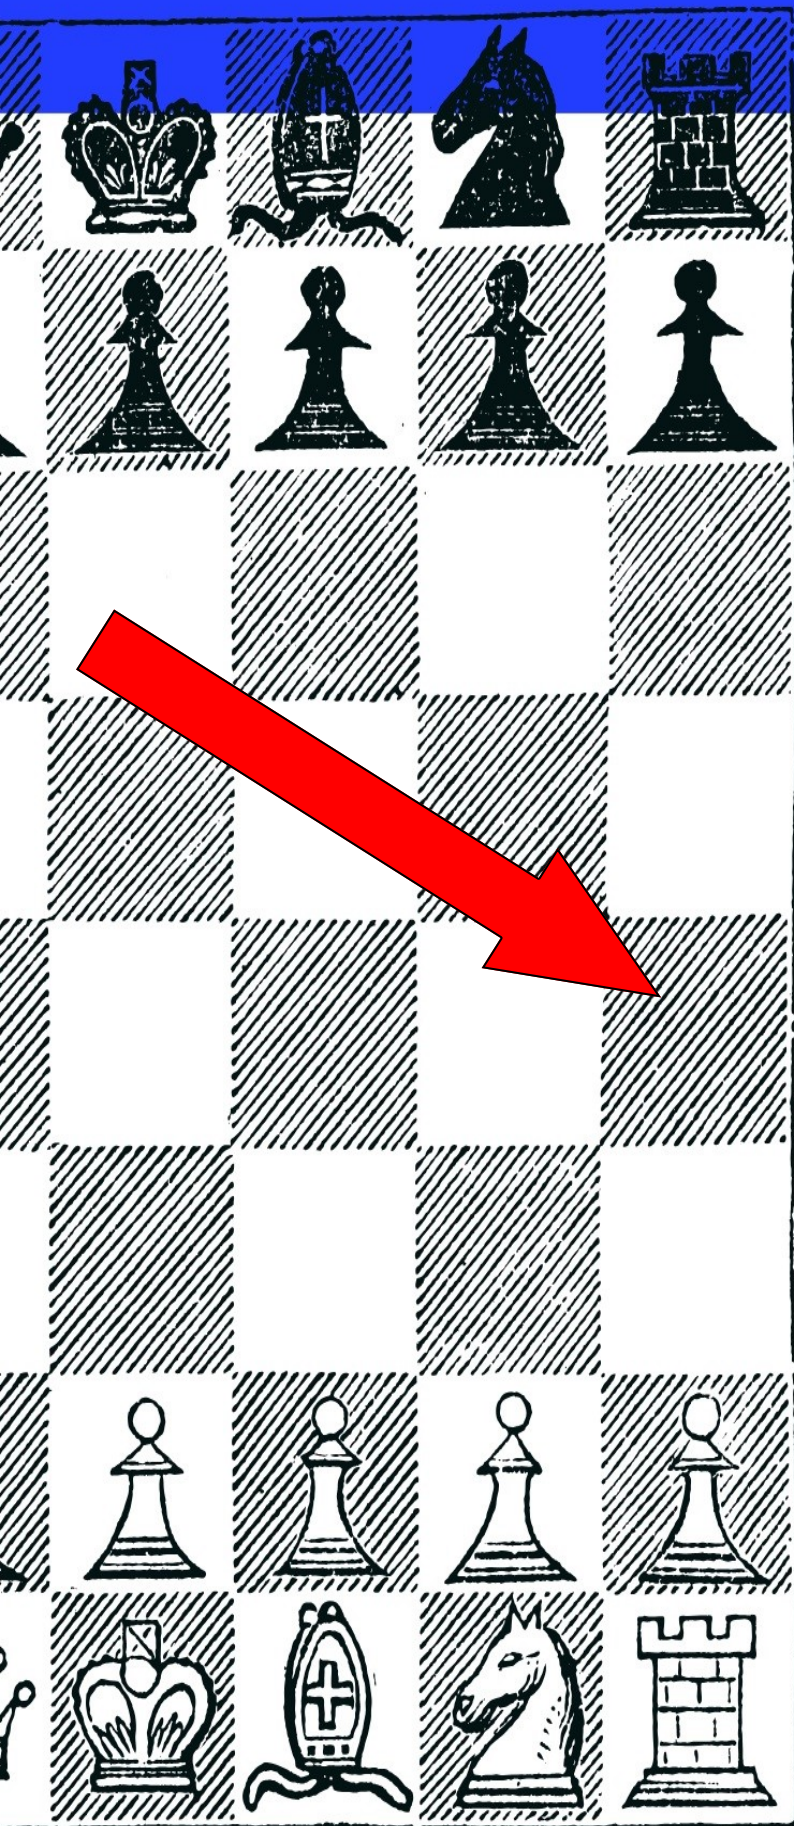

Later, during the Reformation, Martin Luther preached that all work can be done to the glory of God. Whether ministering the Gospel or scrubbing floors, any honest work is pleasing to the Lord. Out of this conviction grew the Protestant work ethic. Christians were also active on behalf of workers in the early days of the industrial revolution, when the factories were “dark satanic mills,” to borrow a phrase from Sir William Blake. Work in factories and coal mines in those days was hard and dangerous.

Children were practically slaves and were sometimes even chained to the machines. Then John Wesley came preaching and teaching the Gospel throughout England. He came not to the upper classes but to the laboring classes—to men whose faces were black with coal dust, women whose dresses were patched and faded. John Wesley preached to them—and in the process, he pierced the conscience of the whole nation.

Two of Wesley's disciples, William Wilberforce and Lord Shaftesbury, were inspired to work for legislation that would clean up abuses in the workplace. The British parliament passed child labor laws, safety laws, and minimum-wage laws. Here in America, we've lost the Christian connection with the labor movement. But in many countries—from Canada to Poland—that tradition still remains.

So go ahead, let your kids wear hunting jackets and Blundstone boots, as long as workwear is the fashion. But this Labor Day, remember that labor derives its true dignity as a reflection of the Creator. And that whatever we do, in word or deed, we should do all to the glory of God.
